

I believe the FCC's desire to track wireless VoIP users is misguided. While it is true that CALEA capabilities be present, routine tracking smacks of unconstitutionality. Thank you.

Richard Quinn